

Representative of the investment

Investor holding an investor residence permit

- Proof of being in possession of an investor's residence visa currently in force (or at most currently within the period of ninety calendar days after expiration).
- Proof of having maintained the business project: a favorable report from the Directorate General of Trade and Investment of the Ministry of Economy and Competitiveness indicating that the initially justified general interest reasons are maintained. This report should also include the need for the intervention of the representative for an adequate management of the project.

Investor without investor's residence visa

- Favorable report issued by the General Directorate of International Trade and Investments attesting that reasons of general interest concur in the business project presented. If the investor designates a representative for the management of the business project in order for the same to obtain the investor's residence visa, the report must include the need for that representative to intervene in the management of the project. This report should also include the need for the intervention of the representative for an adequate management of the project.
